ULTRON — PILOT NOTES

The deck in one line

Every nontoken artifact you play is two artifacts. Ultron reads "whenever another nontoken artifact you control enters, you may pay {2}: create a token that's a copy of it," and the token is a 2/2 Robot Villain creature if it wasn't a creature already. Rocks become bodies that tap for mana, reducers become two reducers, ETB artifacts fire twice, and the lords grow the whole pile.

The first four turns

Turn	Play	Why
1	Land, Sol Ring / Mox Opal / a one-drop	Rocks are the copy targets; get them down first
2	Land, a two-mana rock or Steel Overseer
3	Ultron	Nothing else matters on turn 3
4	Land, rock, pay {2} → token rock	The token is summoning-sick (CR 302.6) — it taps for mana next turn
5+	Reducers, then ETB artifacts, always with the {2} held	Copy the reducers before the big stuff; each token Inspector is another –1

Under Krang every artifact creature has haste, so the token rocks tap immediately.

When to pay the {2}

Copy target	Pay?	Notes
Any mana rock (Dynamo, Lotus, Arc Reactor, Powerstone, Mightstone)	Always	Permanent mana plus a body. (An Everflowing Chalice-style rock would copy with zero counters — CR 707.2 — which is why the deck runs Powerstone instead.)
Walking Ballista	Never	X is 0 for anything not on the stack (CR 107.3g): the token is a 0/0 and dies at once. Echoes of Eternity's spell copy does keep X.
Hangarback Walker	Never, unless Machine Overlord or Forsaken Monument is out	Same X = 0 rule: the token is a 0/0 and dies. Under Overlord (+2/+2 to Constructs) or Monument (+2/+2 to colourless creatures) it lives as a 2/2 that grows itself for {1}.
Cost reducer (Inspector, Familiar, Cloud Key, Anvil)	Always	Cloud Key's token re-chooses the type — name creature for the fatties. Anvil's token re-imprints.
ETB artifact (Battlesphere, Meteor Golem, Portal, Solemn, Mightstone, Duplicant)	Always	The token keeps the ETB (CR 707.5). Token Portal = three more sacrifices.
Bomb body (Wurmcoil, Blightsteel, Krang, Leveler)	Yes	Legendary ones (Krang) hit the legend rule unless Mirror Box is out — keep either, they're identical.
The One Ring	Yes	Keep the token (0 burden counters) and bin the card. No protection trigger — the token wasn't cast.
Equipment (Commander's Plate)	Rarely	The token is a 2/2 that can't equip anything (CR 301.5c). Only if you want the body.
Engine pieces (Roaming Throne, Panharmonicon, Echoes, Unwinding Clock, Mystic Forge)	Yes if mana is spare	A second Clock does nothing; a second Throne or Panharmonicon adds a trigger (they add, they don't compound).

Stacking the copy engines

- Roaming Throne (name Robot), Panharmonicon and Echoes of Eternity each make Ultron trigger one extra time. All three out: four triggers per artifact, {8} for four tokens (CR 603.2d — they add, never multiply). A doubler only counts if it was out before the artifact entered.

- Mirrorworks is a second Ultron with its own {2}. Panharmonicon and Echoes double it too (Throne does not — it only reads creatures), so it triggers three times: seven tokens from one Thran Dynamo between the two of them if you have {14}.

- Thran Temporal Gateway / Quicksilver Amulet ({4},{T}): put Krang, Blightsteel, Portal or Forge from hand onto the battlefield at instant speed — an Ultron trigger, not a cast. Unwinding Clock untaps both on every opponent's turn. Ultron copies the deployers themselves, and a token Gateway is a Robot Villain 2/2 that still deploys.

- Extraplanar Lens: imprint a Wastes on turn 3 or Urza's Tower once Tron is up — Stage and Vesuva copies of Tower share its name and trigger it too. Opponents' same-named lands also benefit; almost nobody else runs Wastes or Tower.

- Prototype Portal: imprint Myr Battlesphere ({7}: 4/7 + four Myr each turn), Wurmcoil ({6}), or Meteor Golem ({7}: destroy a permanent every turn). With Unwinding Clock, once per untap step — four a turn cycle.

- Roaming Throne naming Robot also doubles every token copy of a noncreature artifact (they are Robot Villains): a token Portal to Phyrexia edicts six and reanimates twice each upkeep. Ultron copies the Throne itself for {2} — the token names Robot too and adds a fifth trigger, and Machine Overlord makes both of them 6/6 with ward 2.

- Sculpting Steel entering as a copy of X is a nontoken artifact entering — Ultron copies it too (three X for {5} total).

- The Mycosynth Gardens ({X},{T}: becomes a copy of an artifact with MV X) is a land — it does not enter, so no Ultron trigger, but it is a repeatable fifth copy of Forsaken Monument or Cloud Key.

- Mirror Box turns the legend rule off and gives +1/+1 per same-named creature. Token Krang next to Krang: two 10/10s. Token Karn: two.

How the game ends

1. Krang, Utrom Warlord — the board gains flying, trample, indestructible and haste. Ten Robot

Villain tokens at 6/6 (Machine Overlord +2, Monument +2, Overseer counters) is 60 evasive power in one swing.

1. Cybermen Squadron — every nonlegendary artifact creature has myriad: each attacker becomes three, one at each opponent. Ten attackers = thirty attackers.

1. Blightsteel Colossus — copy it ({2}) for a second 11/11 infect trampler; Kuldotha Forgemaster

(sac three tokens) puts it onto the battlefield, which still triggers Ultron. Rogue's Passage makes one unblockable. Ten poison from one hit.

1. Glaring Fleshraker — 1 to each opponent for every colourless creature entering. Every Ultron token, every Spawn, every myriad copy, every Myr. Echoes doubles it. Twenty triggers over a game is normal.

1. Walking Ballista — under Forsaken Monument every tap for {C} makes an extra {C}; Tron plus three doubled rocks is X=10 easily, and it is a colourless spell for Sanctum of Ugin. Under Omnath, Locus of the Void the mana banked on earlier turns adds to X as well.

1. Portal to Phyrexia — original plus token: six sacrifices on entry, then two reanimations every upkeep from any graveyard.

1. Platinum Angel — not a kill, a lock: copy her, then Forge or Krang for indestructible and Cryptothrall for hexproof. Edicts miss (you sacrifice a token). Only an exile wrath, a mass bounce or a big –X/–X ends it, and every exile spent on an Angel is one not spent on Ultron.

Removal that only hurts them

All Is Dust, Ugin's –3 and Ugin Eye of the Storms' exile-on-cast read colour. Nothing in this deck has a colour, Omnath included. (Null Elemental Blast is on the sideboard since 2026-09-30; it reads multicolour, so a mono-coloured commander is immune to it.) Ugin, Eye of the Storms is the strongest card in the list once it lands — every colourless spell (almost every spell) exiles a coloured permanent.

Sequencing traps

- Token rocks can't tap the turn they arrive (summoning sick, even for a mana ability). Plan the {2} a turn ahead.

- Sanctum of Ugin triggers on casting a colourless spell with MV 7+ — Krang, Portal, Blightsteel, Forge, Leveler, Battlesphere, Platinum Angel, Squadron, All Is Dust, Ugin EotS, Ten Rings, Omnath, and Ballista or Hangarback at X of 4 or more. Hold it until the cast, then sac for Blightsteel, Krang or Omnath.

- Kuldotha Forgemaster puts the card onto the battlefield — that is an artifact entering (Ultron triggers) but not a cast (Sanctum, Echoes' copy and Liberator's counter don't).

- Marvin has every activated ability of your other creatures — and every Ultron token of a noncreature artifact is a creature. Token Dynamo: Marvin taps for three. Token Gateway: a third deployer. Kuldotha: a second tutor. Steel Overseer's counters land on Marvin (he is an artifact creature) and Walking Ballista's "remove a counter: 1 damage" lets him shoot them; Hangarback's {1},{T} grows him. One tap per untap, four per cycle under Clock. Legendary — his copy needs Mirror Box.

- Mind's Eye: pay {1} per opponent draw — Unwinding Clock means the rocks are untapped on their turns, so the mana is free. Ultron's token copy is a Robot: Throne doubles it, Echoes doubles both. Five triggers on one draw step is normal late.

- Idol of Oblivion draws only on a turn you created a token — any Ultron copy, Spawn, Myr, Thopter or Treasure Vault activation counts. Hold {2} for a copy before you tap it.

- Eldrazi Confluence mode 2, three times, on Battlesphere or Portal at instant speed: three fresh ETBs and three Ultron triggers. It also flickers an opponent's token out of existence.

- Chimil discovers at your end step: take the free cast (Ultron copies it) unless it is Walking Ballista, Hangarback Walker or a card you would rather hold. It also makes every spell uncounterable.

- Hangarback Walker is the mana sink: {1},{T} for a counter, four times a cycle under Unwinding

Clock, and Overseer and Iron Spider stack more. It dies into a Thopter per counter — each one a Fleshraker ping and an Idol turn-on. Never pay Ultron's {2} for it unless Machine Overlord or Forsaken Monument is out; Gateway, Amulet, Forgemaster, Prototype Portal and a Chimil discover all make it a 0/0. Under Krang it is indestructible, so a wipe leaves no Thopters — feed it to Kuldotha instead.

- Mycosynth Golem gives artifact creature spells affinity, and X is chosen before the reduction is applied (CR 601.2b, 601.2f, 702.41a): with ten artifacts, Walking Ballista or Hangarback Walker at X = 5 costs nothing.

- Ugin's Labyrinth: exile Krang, Blightsteel or Portal on entry for {◇◇} a turn, and tap it to take the card back the turn you can cast it. Urza's Workshop taps for one per Urza's land — Mine, Power Plant, Tower, Cave, Saga, itself — once you control three artifacts.

- Cityscape Leveler's cast trigger fires once (the card); the token gets only the attack trigger.
- Duplicant exiles a nontoken creature on entry; the token Duplicant does it again.
- Legend rule on token copies of Krang, Karn, The One Ring, Squadron is not legendary. Mirror

Box off → choose one; it doesn't have to be the card.

- Mishra's Workshop mana only casts artifact spells — not Echoes, All Is Dust, the Ugins, Omnath or the instants. Tap it first for artifacts and keep Wastes for {◇} pips.

- Omnath, Locus of the Void keeps your unspent mana across steps and turns. When the pool would empty, the mana becomes colourless instead and stays (CR 500.5, 614.5; ledger cost-014).

- Under Unwinding Clock, tap every rock on every opponent's turn and keep the mana for your own turn. Sol Ring, Thran Dynamo and Gilded Lotus alone bank 24 across three opponent turns, or 33 with Forsaken Monument.

- Banked mana keeps its restriction (ledger cost-023). Workshop mana still casts only artifact spells and can't pay Ultron's {2}. Karn's upkeep mana now carries over every turn, but still can't cast a nonartifact spell. Spend restricted mana first.

- Landfall adds {◇◇}, or {◇◇◇◇} under Echoes. When Ultron copies Darksteel Citadel, Treasure Vault or Power Depot, the token is a land: resolve landfall first and pay the {2} with it. Solemn's basic and Vesuva also trigger it.

- It's not an artifact: Ultron can't copy it, and Workshop, Karn and Mightstone mana can't cast

it. Jhoira's Familiar (–1) and Ugin, the Ineffable (–2) do reduce it, and Gateway or Amulet put it in for {4}. Echoes' cast copy dies to the legend rule unless Mirror Box is out, and two Omnaths double landfall again. Hall of Echoes can become a second one for a turn.

- If it's removed, the bank stays until the end of that step (ledger cost-010). Spend it in response on Walking Ballista's {4} counters or Kozilek's Command.

- Announce your pool every time you pass priority (CR 106.4b).

Mulligan guide

Keep two lands plus a rock, or three lands and Ultron castable on 3. Ultron on turn 3 with a rock to copy on turn 4 is the whole early game.

Ship hands with three or more cards at MV 7+ and no reducer or rock. The fat is castable under Tron and reducers later; it is dead on turn 5 with four lands.
